The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1892.

Senator Call, of Florida, has whipped the fight and will retain his seat.

The United States Supreme Court has declared Boyd, Democrat, entitled to the Governor's chair in Nebraska.

Hon. J. G. Hovey, of St. Johnsbury, Vermont, has been visiting Jacksonville this week. He is very much pleased with this country and thinks it has a great future.

There is serious danger of a split in the Democratic party of Alabama. The Republican party is plucking up hope in consequence and preparing to profit by the folly of Democrats.

Mr. Brock, of the Alliance Herald, is the author of the Warwick letters. He is a vigorous writer, but he is a Republican, and his attacks on the Democratic party come easy to him.

The Alliance in Chilton county made nominations for county officers and took the whole hog. Every man on the ticket was an Alliance man. This sort of action does not promote Democratic harmony.

The Third party is being organized in North Carolina and Georgia. In Georgia Ellington will be nominated for Governor and Tom Watson will be regarded as the leader in the State. C. C. Post, a carpet-bagger, and perhaps a Republican, from up North, is the active organizer of the party that will put the negro on top again in Georgia. What fools white men can be sometimes.

In Cleburne county the Executive Committee met last Saturday and fixed May 7th for the best primaries and May 15th for the date of the county convention. The proceedings were harmonious and all the ground-work was laid to preserve the Democratic organization in that county. The qualification for voters at the primaries, as fixed by the State Executive Committee, was adopted by the County Executive Committee.

Gov. Jones answers fully all charges against his private character as fast as they are made and answers them satisfactorily, and then invites the fullest investigation of all his life both public and private. His reply to the charges of the Alliance Herald of last week as to some old debts is open, manly, direct. The Herald will have a hard time proving that Tom Jones is anything but a thoroughly honest and honorable man.

Hon. John F. Burns, of Dallas county, writes asking us to announce, through THE REPUBLICAN, to the people of Calhoun that he is a candidate for Congress, and would like to have their support as a second choice man, if the candidate from their own county should not secure the nomination. John is a genial clever gentleman and he will be given a fair chance with the Calhoun delegation, if it ever has to abandon the candidate from its own county—a most improbable event.

The State of the Case in Butler.

In the last State Convention Butler county was solid for Kolb.

It was regarded in this canvass as the most certain county in the State for Kolb.

Kolb had fifteen out of the sixteen members of the County Executive Committee.

That Committee fixed the representation to which each beat should be entitled in the county convention, and ordered the election of delegates in the beats at only five days notice. It beat Madison all hollow on "snap judgment." It laid down all the rules for the holding of the primaries and refused to allow any prorate. It thought it had a dead sure thing for Kolb.

Gov. Jones went into the county for four days and spoke to the farmers and captured the county. Kolb also spoke every day in the county and at one box the two were to meet, but Kolb threw up the appointment and failed to meet the Governor. This hurt him.

Gov. Jones got fifty-seven delegates and Kolb got fifty-two. The primaries were perfectly fair and held under the rules of a Kolb committee, yet the Kolb men bolted and would not take their own medicine. They held a side show convention and selected a ticket to the State Convention. This is the state of the case in Butler. Will good Democrats in Calhoun justify the acts of the bolters. We think not.

SPICY.

Kolb and Denson.

A special correspondent of the daily press, last week, had to say of Kolb's speech, at Greenville, in Butler county:

"In a general review of the campaign in Jefferson, Capt. Kolb said that the reason why Col. W. H. Denson, of Elowah, opposed him on the stump was merely a personal grievance. He said that during the Montgomery Exposition, before the campaign opened in Jefferson, Col. Denson met Col. Sumter Lea, of Birmingham, at the Exposition grounds, and that Col. Denson said: 'Sumter, they tell me that you are supporting Kolb in this fight.'"

That Col. Lea said: 'Yes, I have made up my mind to support Kolb.' That Col. Denson went on to say: 'Sumter, you are right about it. Kolb is a good man, true Democrat and a fine fellow. He represents right principles in this contest, and I would be for him myself if the damn scamp hadn't gone up in my district and ruined my chances for Congress.'"

Col. Denson was at once telegraphed to as to the truth of this, and the following is his characteristic reply: GADSDEN, Jan. 30.—As usual Kolb lied. I was not at the Montgomery exposition. Never had any such conversation. One truth he tells when he said he was a d— scamp. Publish this.

W. H. DENSON.

THAT CARRIAGE BILL.

Mr. Haygood said Mr. Kolb had no authority to Refer to Him.

Mr. W. E. Haygood, the well known transfer man of this city, called at the Advertiser office yesterday and called attention to the report in the letter of the Advertiser's special correspondent from Greenville, which was as follows:

"It was reported here last night by gentlemen who heard Captain Kolb at Birmingham, that he stated that Governor Jones had never paid the bill for the hack in which he rode when he was inaugurated, and said if they did not believe it they could write to Mr. W. E. Haygood, the transfer man at Montgomery and find out the facts. In his speech last night the Governor said there was not a cintilla of truth in the statement, and said he would denounce it in plainer terms than that if it was repeated. He said on the occasion of his inaugural he rode in a hack tendered to him free of charge, by his life long and political friend, Mr. William Trimble, of Montgomery. As to other hacks used by the Senate and House Committees in the inaugural procession, they were engaged by members of the Committee by authority of the Legislature, and the Governor had no more to do with that than a private citizen of Butler county."

In reply thereto Mr. Haygood requested the publication of the following card over his signature:

A CARD.

Editor Advertiser: Captain Kolb had no authority or right to refer to me about the above matter. Governor Jones' statement is correct. He did not use one of my hacks or engage any one from me for any one else. The hacks were engaged by Mr. S. D. Bloch, of Camden, Senator from Wilcox, Chairman of the Inauguration Committee. He secured the passage of a bill through the Senate for the payment of my bill for the hacks, but it failed in the House, because Mr. Willis Brewer, on the Committee, pigeon-holed it, and refused to report it to the House. I expect to get the next General Assembly to pay it. I hold Governor Jones entirely blameless in the matter.

W. E. HAYGOOD.

BULLOCK'S EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Instructions of the State Executive Committee Are Ignored.

UNION SPRINGS, Jan. 30.—Pursuant to the call of Chairman Bethune the County Executive Committee convened here today. The supporters of Jones and Kolb have been at work for sometime. The Jones men wanted a primary, the Kolb men a convention. The majority of the committee were Kolb men, and therefore took action to protect Kolb from the ballots of the masses by declaring for a convention to be held on the 3rd of March.

The wrangle at the meeting resembled very much that too often seen in conventions, and occupied nearly two hours. It was a fight to the finish.

The leader of the Kolb men moved to have the convention on a basis determined by the vote of 1888, disregarding the instruction of the State Executive Committee, and the motion passed by a good majority.

The Jones men who were in the minority, attempted to submit a minority protest, but were promptly ruled out of order by the Chairman, as was the case on several other points.

The arbitrary and partisan action of the Kolb men on the committee has provoked great dissatisfaction, and it is believed that it will cause Kolb to lose votes in this county. The Jones men are now determined to carry the county for the Governor. Kolb would have stood no show in a primary election. His men knew it. A convention will give him a fighting chance as the delegates to the County Convention are unequally distributed among the several beats, so far as the white voters are concerned.

It is pretty well conceded that the State Convention will have to decide a contest from Bullock. It is probable that the minority members of the County Executive Committee will take steps to send up a delegation selected in accordance with the rules laid down by the State Committee.

The action of the Bullock County Committee is a confession that Kolb cannot stand before the fire of straight ballots, but must rely on the machinery of a convention whose delegates are supposed to voice the people's wishes.

It was left with the convention to decide on the manner of electing county officers.

COMMITTEE ADDRESS.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY OF ALABAMA.

The Rules and Regulations Adopted by the Committee Plainly Set Out—Democrats are Invited to Uphold Democratic Principles and Make Any Sacrifices for Harmony.

Rooms of the Democratic Executive Committee,

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 2, 1892.

Your State Executive Committee, at a meeting held in Montgomery on the 26th of this month, called a convention of the Democrats of Alabama to meet in the City of Montgomery, on Wednesday the 8th day of June, 1892, at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney-General, Auditor, State Treasurer, Superintendent of Education, one Chief Justice and four Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, and a Commissioner of Agriculture, and also for the purpose of selecting a State Executive Committee and twenty-two delegates to the National Convention of the Democratic Party, and for such other purposes as may seem to the convention for the interest of the Democratic party.

The basis of representation adopted by the several counties is one delegate for every 300 votes cast for the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1890, and one for any fraction in excess of 150 votes. Upon that basis the several counties of the State will be entitled to representation in such convention as follows:

These delegates are to be selected either by primary election County Convention or by mass meetings as the several Executive Committees of the respective counties shall determine.

Not less than thirty days notice of all County Conventions, primary elections and mass meetings is required to be given in all counties which had not called such conventions or ordered such primaries before the 26th of this month.

By a resolution adopted by your committee, the right to vote and participate in mass meetings for the purpose of selecting delegates to the County Conventions or in mass meetings and primaries for the selection of delegates to the State Convention is confined to those who voted the Democratic ticket at the last State and Federal elections; to those who, having failed to vote at said election, or either of them, have heretofore habitually voted that ticket and intend to support it in the ensuing elections; and to those who have become voters since the last election and those who will become voters by the next election, and intend to vote the Democratic ticket. Where conventions are held for the selection of such delegates, each beat of the County must be given representation in proportion to its Democratic strength, but every beat shall be entitled to at least one delegate in such Convention.

Where delegates are selected by a convention, they are required to be elected by a majority. Where selected by a primary, those receiving a plurality shall be the delegates. The power to instruct delegates is declared to exist only in those who elected them, the county convention, where they are selected in that manner, and the Democratic voters who vote the primaries when that mode of election is adopted.

The regulations adopted by your Committee are intended to secure the following results, to no one of which can any good Democrat object:

First—That none but Democrats shall participate in the selection of delegates to Democratic Conventions.

Second—That full notice shall be given of the time for holding all conventions and primaries, so that all Democrats may be informed and have an opportunity of participating in the selection of delegates.

Third—That the delegates when elected shall be the representatives of a majority of the Democrats of the County, they shall represent; that each voter shall have the same rights and the same powers in the nomination of the candidates of his party without regard to the beat or locality in which he may live as every other voter and thus the fundamental principles of Democracy be upheld and the rule of the majority be maintained.

These regulations should command the cordial support of all good Democrats. No one should want any but Democrats to participate in our Conventions and primaries. No one should desire that any meeting or election should be held until after full and ample notice of the time and place of holding the same, so that every Democrat may be informed of these things and have an opportunity of participating in such meetings and elections, and it would be in violation of all our party has ever taught to adopt a plan that would give to those representing a minority of the Democrats whom they claim to represent, the power to name the candidates of our party.

The fourth regulation adopted by your committee with reference to the number of votes necessary to elect delegates and the authority of those delegates when elected is but the declaration of truths that have always been and must always be recognized where men believe in a government of the people. These delegates are but the agents of those who send them and should be the choice of a majority. The power to dictate or control their action exists only in those who appoint them; the power to instruct exists only in those who have the power to appoint, in the people where they are appointed by means of a primary, in the convention, which represents the sovereignty of the people, where a convention appoints them. It is a self-evident truth that where the appointing power gives no instruction, the agent is authorized and required to exercise his own best judgment and discretion as to how he shall discharge the duties imposed upon him.

By another resolution adopted by your Committee, conventions for the nomination of a candidate for Chancellor for each Chancery Division in the State, and also conventions for the nomination of candidates for Judge in each Judicial Circuit in the State, except where there is a Circuit Executive Committee for the Circuit, are called to meet in Montgomery on the same day as the State Convention. The County Committees of the several counties will provide for election of delegates to such conventions. In any Circuit where there may be a Circuit Executive Committee, the time and place of holding its convention will be fixed by such Committee. This Committee is not informed of the existence of any such Committee in any but the Seventh Circuit. If there is any in any of the other circuits, then the chairman of such committee is requested to communicate such fact to the chairman of this committee.

This is an important year for Democrats. The prospects of our party in the Union were never brighter. If we are but true to ourselves, true to those great principles which our party has always taught, we will surely gain possession of all departments of the Federal Government. When this great end is attained, and only then can our people hope to be relieved of the burdens under which they have so long suffered; then and only then can we get rid of the iniquitous class legislation which has so oppressed and impoverished us all, except the favored few. The hope of accomplishing this end, so much desired, should urge us to extraordinary efforts and should determine us to sacrifice everything but honor for the preservation of harmony among Democrats. We owe it to ourselves and to our posterity that these bright prospects shall not be blighted by dissension and discord in our ranks, and the people of Alabama, who have, through so many weary years, looked forward with wishful eyes to that bright day, the dawn of which we can almost see, will not tolerate that its bright prospects shall be obscured and lost by bickerings and dissension among us.

THEY AGREE ON A BILL.

AND IT IS INTRODUCED BY MR. BANKHEAD.

Provides for Supplying the Place of Bank Circulation Surrendered—The Bill in Full.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Democratic members of the House who are members of the Alliance, but repudiate all sympathy with the high nine, composing the Peoples' party, have had a consultation, to which all Democratic members who sympathize with the movement to devise legislation that will increase currency circulation, were invited. The object of the consultation was, if possible, to agree upon a plan that was sure to secure Democratic harmony and the enactment of a measure of relief that would be satisfactory to the party and the country at large. There was a good attendance of non-Alliance members from various parts of the country. Capt. Bankhead, among others, was present. In the course of the evening he addressed the meeting and presented as a basis for action his bill introduced on the 18th of January. The main features of the measure were published in The Advertiser of the 19th inst., but in view of the action taken at the meeting under consideration, it is well enough to give the bill in full. It is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that whenever the circulation of any National Bank, or any portion thereof, shall be surrendered the Secretary of the Treasury shall thereupon prepare an equivalent amount of legal-tender treasury notes of the denominations now provided by law for National bank notes. They shall be a legal tender for all debts, public or private, and shall be paid out by the Treasurer of the United States in accordance with the appropriations made by Congress, or in satisfaction of such demands against the Government as Congress may direct, and may be redeemed in coin as legal-tender notes now are. The coin now held in the Treasury for redemption of legal tenders shall also be applied to the redemption of notes herein provided for.

Section 2. That from and after the passage of this act no import duty shall be levied or collected upon salt, lumber, nails, cotton ties, bagging for cotton, binding twine, farming implements, wool, tin, glass, crockery, cotton and woolen goods of every description, and no import duty in excess of twenty per centum ad valorem shall be levied or collected upon any products manufactured from iron.

Section 3. That in order to meet and cover any deficit in the necessary revenues of the government which may arise from and follow the passage of this act, the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to prepare legal tender treasury notes of like denominations to those now issued in the sum of millions, and to pay the same to the creditors of the United States in compliance with appropriations made by Congress, and for such other purposes as Congress, may direct.

Section 4. That the treasury notes herein provided for shall be a legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private, and for the redemption thereof it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to cause to be coined a sufficient number of standard silver dollars out of the bullion in the treasury which, when coined, shall be deposited in the treasury to be used in such redemption.

After a thorough discussion of the bill, it was unanimously agreed by the Alliance members to endorse it, and to present it as one of the measures desired by that organization. There is no inflation in the bill, but a plan to prevent contraction when National Bank notes are withdrawn. It has no flat money feature about it, for the notes provided for are redeemable in coin, either gold or silver, at the option of the Government. The second section provides for a reduction of tax burdens by the placing of many indispensable articles of necessity upon the free list, and if this should result in a loss of revenue, that might cause failure to meet obligations, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized by the third section to issue Treasury notes sufficient to meet the demands of the Government, and also what might be needed to take the place of retired National Bank notes. These notes are receivable for all debts, public or private.

The conference requested Mr. Bankhead to select such committee as he deemed best to go with him before the Ways and Means Committee in advocacy of the measures, and with assurance on their part, that they favored the bill.

Co-operation Among Farmers.

The farmers' convention, which recently met in Augusta, adopted the following resolutions: "Resolved, That to carry out the recommendations of this convention to reduce the cotton acreage for the year 1892, 20 per cent., we earnestly request all the farmers' papers of the cotton States to publish the resolutions of this meeting, urging all cotton producers to accept the resolutions and faithfully carry them out, and to urge them to further try to increase the production of grain, grasses, meat and everything in general for the support of man and beast.

REQUEST FOR CO-OPERATION.

"Resolved, further, That we request the State Alliance to urge upon sub-Alliance and State Granges through subordinate Granges, the necessity for the immediate consideration of action on this important question. That we request all city, county and agricultural organizations through the cotton States to call county conventions at once to consider and decide on the question of reduction of the cotton acreage, and at said convention to elect two delegates to a general Southern Cotton convention, which will convene at Montgomery, Ala., Wednesday, March 9, 1892 to consider the question affecting the interests of planters, and decide on such general and uniform legislation in the various States as is best for further relief. All cotton exchanges and bodies of cotton factors are requested to have representation in the said convention by the election of two delegates to represent each organization.

THE NEWS TO BE SCATTERED.

"Resolved, That the Augusta cotton exchange, through its proper committee, send a copy of these resolutions to the various exchanges and cotton associations, and that a general committee on memorials to legislatures, also send out copies of the said resolutions to the various journals and agricultural organizations throughout the South at as early a date as possible.

"Resolved, That each county convention be requested to take a list of subscribers who are willing to bind themselves to the reduction and make a report of said agreement for reduction through their delegates to the general convention in March."

The following resolution was also adopted: "Recognizing the fact that the home production of farm feed crops is retarded by the fact that such crops have, when home grown, little commercial value and no standing as money crops,

"Resolved, That the convention urge upon commission men and all others handling and consuming hay, grain and meats and the like, to encourage the growing of these crops recognizing them as money crops and making a market for them by educating the farmers as to the best methods of growing and putting them into a marketable shape."

The Defalcation in the Agricultural Department.

For some days of last week rumors are rife that one of the clerks in the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture of this State had defalcated for a large sum and fled the State. Later it was ascertained that the young man had not fled Montgomery and had settled the amount supposed to be short. In the Advertiser of Tuesday we find the following interview with Commissioner Lane on the subject:

Commissioner Lane said: There is no truth whatever in the statement that Mr. Walker has left Montgomery. Sometime last month Mr. Walker got on a drunken spree, while I was absent, but upon my return and Walker's recovery, he stated that while on this spree he had spent a good deal of his money, and possibly some of the funds of the Department, which he stated he would make good as soon as the amount could be ascertained. He made no concealment, and the facts were reported to the Governor, who ordered Examiner Reeves to investigate the matter. Mr. Walker has been here all the time, and went over the books with the Examiner.

"The Examiner found the books in some confusion. Walker had charged himself with a good many things for which he was not liable, and had not charged some for which he was—just such a state of things one would expect from the entries of a drunken man. The whole amount was $1,154.62, which he promptly paid over as soon as ascertained.

"Walker, when sober, is the last man to be guilty of any impropriety of this sort and the whole thing was due to a drunken and gambling spree. Of course, I appointed a successor in his place at once."

Why Don't Calhoun Have Teacher's Institutes?

To the thinking teacher the question spontaneously arises why there are no Institutes in Calhoun County? There is hardly another county in the State that has so many intelligent teachers as ours and I make the assertion that there is no other that has as many teachers and have no institutes. Sec. 905 of the school law of Alabama says: "It shall be the duty of the board of education in each county to organize and maintain therein teacher's institutes, one for teachers who are white persons, and one for teachers who are colored persons to be held at such times and places as the board may prescribe." Sec. 906 makes it the duty of the County Superintendent to be president of such institutes and the members of the board of education the vice-presidents. The teachers holding licenses shall be the members of the institutes organized for his race." Sec. 907 requires that three such meetings be held each year, and that every teacher must attend at least one. The writer, in conversation a few days since with several of the leading teachers of this county, asked the question why we did not have institutes as other counties are having, and no one present could tell. We were of the same opinion that nothing would be more beneficial to the teacher than to hold institutes. Three or four months since I received a letter from a teacher of this county asking me if I would take part in an institute, and said he was working up one. I told him I would do all I could to help it on. I have never heard anything from the teacher since, and suppose if he held his institute it must have been a secret affair. I think a majority of the leading teachers of this county are anxious to have institutes and I appeal to the board of education to answer the above question: Why no Institutes in Calhoun?

ENTOMBED ALIVE.

GREAT EXCITEMENT IN DUNKIRK, NEW YORK.

Miss Frances Burke is Consigned to the Grave Despite the Protests of Her Mother.

BUFFALO, Feb. 6.—For the past four days the people of Dunkirk have been excited over the story that Miss Frances Burke, 16 years old, heiress to a considerable fortune, was buried alive there Saturday, Jan. 30.

The young lady lived with her parents. She had been ill for some time with pulmonary trouble, and on Friday morning was taken with a coughing fit and fell over, apparently lifeless. A doctor was called, and arrangements were made with Undertaker Kolb to take charge of the body.

The mother protested, saying that her daughter was not dead, but owing to the fact that the priest who was to conduct the funeral services wished to leave the city on Saturday afternoon, last preparations were made, and the body was taken to the funeral home.

Before the body was placed in the coffin, it was found that the young woman was still alive, and when taken away, there was moisture on her face. The mother, who was in the room, saw the body and was shocked.

At the cemetery the mother requested that the coffin be taken out, and this was done. A needle and a mirror were placed in the coffin, and the mother was allowed to see the body.

The mother refused to open it. After the burial the facts in the case became known to the townspeople. The next day they demanded that the coffin be taken out.

The body was exhumed, and the coffin was found to be filled with water. The corpse was completely submerged.

The mother, who was in the room, saw the body and was shocked. The investigation demanded by the people will continue.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Feb. 6.—The business failures occurring throughout the country during the week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., number for the United States 273, Canada 46, total 319; against 297 last week.

In spite of much dullness and complaint in some important branches, trade is gradually enlarging. The east is not showing the full benefit, because of the slow movement of the western distributing centers. The south is increasing heavily, while the southern trade, which is more largely in the hands of the east, is steadily increasing orders for manufactured products and is likely to buy more largely in the next few months than in the last.

WORK IN CONGRESS.

THE MOST IMPORTANT MATTERS CULLED AND CONDENSED.

Notable Events in the Legislative and Executive Branches of the National Government.

Tuesday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—A lively session was developed here in the report that the third party movement in the south is being backed by the Republican national campaign committee.

It is said that the Republican committee is quietly at work communicating with prominent advocates of the third party in Georgia and other southern states, and that Republican emissaries are zealously at work in this new effort to break the Democratic integrity of the south, as they have been unable to do it by any other method.

The senate committee on finance has decided to report adversely the Stewart silver bill. This will bring the matter up for discussion in the senate. Mr. Harter, who was moving for a Democratic caucus on the silver question next Friday night, has dropped the matter. Mr. Bland says that Mr. Harter dropped it because he discovered that the goldbugs had no chance with the Democratic party.

Whatever friction may have been visible within the Democratic party in the house of representatives since the election of Speaker Crisp, can now be said to be rapidly disappearing. Since the discussion of the rules has been in progress Mr. Mills and his friends have supported the chair in many important particulars when it was thought that, perhaps, they would unite in the opposition. Mr. Mills came forward today, and in a most vigorous speech, demonstrated the Democratic position in regard to the Burrows amendment relating to the counting of a quorum.

In fact, he practically resumed his old time leadership, and to make his position evident he elicited the cheers of the Democratic side of the house by announcing with dramatic vigor: "I am a Democrat." The speaker, who was seated, aside was prolonged, recalling the time when Samuel J. Randall made his famous announcement that both wings of the party would thereafter "fly together."

Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A Republican paper here, which is an open opponent of Secretary Blaine, has published some startling statements, which have caused considerable excitement in political circles. This paper charges that the secretary was very severe in his criticisms of the president's course in the late Chilean trouble, and denounced the president soundly for his course on the Democratic side.

These remarks are said to have been made at a dinner, at which most of the foreign representatives were present. It is further charged that the secretary, in an uncompromising manner, referred to the Italian affair at the same time.

NUTMEG STATESMEN.

A LIVELY TILT BETWEEN DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS.

The Republican Speaker Declares the House Adjourned, but the Democrats Object.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 4.—The house of representatives met, at 1 p. m., most of the Democrats and half a dozen Republicans attended its session. The proceedings introduced one of the most novel performances of the legislative session. A roll call was taken on the question pending the adoption of the special rule giving the speaker power to adjourn the house in the absence of a quorum for a considerable length of time.

The call disclosed the lack of a quorum, and Speaker Pitzke declared the house adjourned. Mr. Walker, of Hartford, tried to make a motion, but the speaker proceeded with the declaration: "The house stands adjourned until tomorrow at 1 o'clock."

The house does not stand adjourned until tomorrow at 1 o'clock, said Mr. Walker, "and members will keep their seats." The members, being by that time all Democrats, kept their seats. After a pause Mr. Walker rose and said he had been cut off when attempting to put a motion that was in order. He then read an argument intended to show that the house rule giving the speaker power to adjourn the house in the absence of a quorum was unconstitutional, and the act of the speaker under it was, therefore, invalid. The house, he claimed, in the absence of a quorum could adjourn from day to day and take means to compel the attendance of absent members.

The speaker having abandoned his chair, it was necessary to elect a speaker pro tempore, and the Democratic leader, Mr. Walker, was elected. Mr. Walker then, as justice of the peace, swore Mr. Callahan in. The latter took the chair and requested Clerk Eddy to make a note of the proceedings. Mr. Eddy said the house was not in session. Then Mr. Callahan said it was necessary to elect a clerk pro tempore, and Mr. Markley of New Britain was elected.

Mr. Callahan administered the oath to Mr. Markley, and then, on a further motion by Mr. Walker, "Tim" McCarthy, of Windsor Locks, was elected sergeant-at-arms to count the attendance of members, and six deputies were chosen and sworn in. An order to compel the attendance of absent members was then passed. It provides, with certain conditions, for the forfeiture of the salary of the member who does not attend the house, or who absents himself without leave afterwards. Copies of this order are to be mailed to all members of the house.

A telegram to all Albany was received. "Speaker Callahan: Hold the fort. Bank on the constitution." Hon. P. B. Smith, Speaker New York assembly.

JACKSON, Feb. 4.—Hon. William S. McAllister, chairman of the national anti-subversive alliance, has circulated the following paper from Hon. U. S. Hall, member of his committee, to the members in Missouri, and makes it general:

HUBBARD, Randolph Co., Mo., Feb. 1. To the members of the Farmers' and Laborers' Union of Missouri: BROTHERS: Be on your guard. Do not allow yourselves to be committed or compromised, or entangled politically. The meeting that is to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on the 10th of this month, under the auspices of the National Farmers' Alliance is for the sole purpose that we did not allow that body to dictate to us how we should conduct our political action, or by recommendation, or otherwise, to do so without authority, and is a violation of every principle of our order. A YOUNG MAN'S MISTAKE.

How He Treated His Benefactor and Courted Disgrace.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 3.—Frank Peyton, a young man in the employ of Mr. John J. Woodside, the real estate man, has left Atlanta suddenly and quietly. Some time during the latter part of December, Peyton arrived in Atlanta from his home in Georgia, and he gave indications of being a penniless stranger. In this distressing condition he was met by Mr. Woodside. The gentleman, who once worked for the young man's father in Chicago, and he determined to reciprocate the elder Peyton's kindness by helping his boy, and giving him a chance to make a comfortable living.

Mr. Woodside bought Frank Peyton wearing apparel, provided a home for him and then took him in his employ and gave him a good and responsible position. The young man worked at the real estate agency through the month of January. He was shown every kindness, and no one could have been treated with more consideration or greater interest than Peyton.

Subsequent developments, however, showed the contrary. After noon Monday the young man failed to turn up, and further investigation brought to light the fact that he had left the city. It is charged by Mr. Woodside that he left with $107 which he had taken from the real estate office.

It seemed almost incredible to Mr. Woodside, after their relations of the past thirty days that the young man had abandoned the most careful gentleman, but he immediately placed the matter in the hands of the local officers.

A number of telegrams were sent in all directions to apprehend Peyton. A reply came from Birmingham that the right man had been caught, but when a more accurate description was given it turned out to be some one else.

Peyton is twenty-two years of age, and an intelligent young man, who made a good impression upon those whom he met in Atlanta. His father is a merchant in Chicago, dealing in cigars and tobacco, and, according to Mr. Woodside, a most excellent gentleman.

No clue to Peyton's whereabouts is known, but it is supposed that he has gone to the north.

The first conviction for perjury in a land claim case was made at Guthrie from a batch of 400 indictments. The defendant is James H. Dumm. The steamer Buffon arrived at the New York quarantine station with yellow fever on board. Five of the steamer's crew died during the voyage. A low saloon in Cincinnati, where a murder was committed a few days ago, was being pretty well cleaned out by a mob which had bombarded it twice.

A NEW AND STARTLING ISSUE.

Oxford and Anniston have formed large and enthusiastic Jones clubs.

Petitions have been sent to the Governor asking the appointment of Judge Leroy F. Box to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench caused by the death of Judge Clopton. Judge Box would grace the position.

The Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee of Georgia has called his committee together for the purpose of taking steps to fight the third party in that State.

I will also discuss the action of the billion dollar congress—the present pension and homestead laws, land grants by congress, the status of the southern states towards the federal government as at present constituted, free trade, protection, etc.

Very respectfully,
G. L. GRAMAM,
Editor of the Alabama Mirror.

What Low Cotton Did.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., February 6.—The farmers in this section are desperate over the low price of cotton. Farmer Shall, of Coffee county, earning last Tuesday that cotton was still declining, set his crop on fire and then committed suicide by jumping over a bluff. John Williams, a farmer of Limestone, took his seed cotton to Athens to sell, but because the price offered was low he drove to the center of the bridge crossing Elk river and dumped his load overboard. The staple is lower here today than for forty-seven years past.

C. S. Woodward, a telegraph operator recently employed at Smithville, was transferred to Fort Valley a few days ago. He had been using some very discreet language about Smithville ladies in particular, and southern ladies in general. News of the young man's conduct followed him, and the Fort Valleyers promptly notified him to leave their borders as he left.

The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1892.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Micon, of Anniston, attended the masquerade party at the Tredgar Inn, at this place, Friday night, the 12th inst.

All the Alliance candidates for county office in Marengo were beaten at the primary. They got in the Kolb boat and were swamped.

Oxford has formed an enthusiastic Tom Jones club to aid in the re-election of the present able Governor of that name. It is time that Jacksonville, Piedmont, Alexandria, and other precincts should fall into line.

The Canvass.

Marengo county went for Jones and sends a solid delegation of sixteen for him. This county went for Kolb in the last State convention.

Clarke county sends three delegates for Kolb and three for Jones. This county went five for Kolb and two for Jones in the last State convention.

Fayette county split and had two conventions, one sending delegates for Jones, and one sending delegates for Kolb. The cause of the split was a claim of the Jones men that Republicans voted at the primaries for Kolb, contrary to the regulations of the committee.

The appointment last week of Gen'l J. W. Burke of Jacksonville to the position of Receiver of the Chattanooga Southern R. R. will be good news to his friends all over Alabama. The appointment while quite a compliment to the ability of Gen'l Burke is a safe one for all parties involved. Gen'l Burke has had much experience in the management of railroads in the South. He has several times acted as President of roads in this state and he has also filled the position of receiver. He is besides a good lawyer, and Judge Bruce could not possibly have made a better selection. Gen'l Burke is in every way fitted to bring order out of chaos and set the Chattanooga Southern on a firm basis.

To the Teacher Again.

"Teacher" in the REPUBLICAN of last week demands the reason why we have no regularly organized association and quotes from our public school laws to show that there is legal requirement for such association and that the responsibility in the matter rests with our county Board of Education. There was a time when the teachers of this county were organized, but like many other institutions of its kind it became a name and nothing more and at least its name is forgotten. Now every teacher in the county knows the importance that attaches to this matter and so does each member of our Board of Education. Then we have no association, not because we are ignorant of its necessity or of the law requiring it, nor because we are not interested in the matter, but because we are all culpably negligent. The writer of the article referred to says that some months ago he received a letter from a teacher asking his pledge of support in the enterprise now in question, and that nothing more has been heard from him. The present writer sent that letter and one like it to every prominent teacher in the county. A few answers prompt and encouraging came—others came after awhile, and from some of those addressed nothing has been heard. But encouraged in view of the success that seemed to be guaranteed, we agreed with Supt. Lane to let our first meeting be early in the spring in response to a call that he should issue at the instance of those pledged for the success of the enterprise. These are the names of those who pledged: C. B. Gibson, Jacksonville. J. L. Dodson, Oxford. J. M. Stephenson, Oxford. W. Y. Titcomb, Anniston. J. D. Duckett, Piedmont. H. T. Persons, Four Mile. T. A. Anderson, White Plains. Jeff Sox, Choccolocco. J. L. Bynum, Weavers. W. H. McKee, Jacksonville. Miss Anderson, " Miss Halcy, " Mrs. Woodward, " J. T. Ury, "

Now when the call for our first meeting comes, let every earnest teacher in the county respond by active service in the effort to bring about the order of things that should be. Let us throw off our lethargy. We are the custodians of the educational interests of a great and growing county. Let it no longer be said to our shame that there is a Calhoun Bar Association, a Calhoun Medical Association, but no Calhoun Teacher's Association.

Respectfully,

J. T. URY.

To the Public of Calhoun County.

I have had occasion to visit most every part of this County within the last 4 years and I will say in praise of the present Hon. Board of County Commissioners that I find the public roads in better condition by two hundred per cent than I ever saw them in Calhoun County, also I find more bridges and better bridges than I ever saw in the County. All this is the result of competent Commissioners. Respectfully,

NOT A THIRD PARTY MAN.

An Admirable Letter From Hon. S. S. Scott, of Russell County.

The following letter from Hon. S. S. Scott, of Russell county, to Mr. M. J. Jones, of Marvin, asking his views of Third partyism, will be read with special interest:

UCLER, Ala., January 11, 1892.—Hon. M. J. Jones—My Dear Sir: You ask me what I think of a Third party. The question has been put to me more than once of late by good men in different parts of Southeast Alabama. Among these I may mention the popular and clever editor of the Ozark Star. My views upon this point have always been fixed and the same. I will give you substantially, though more at length the answer, which I have heretofore invariably given to others.

"I am a Democrat. I have been a Democrat for the last half century. During that time the strength of my Democracy has been displayed in my every political word and act. It will not now be questioned by any one except a formalist or bigot—one who can only see evil in every change of party policy, or every addition to party principle, however much in harmony with the leading tenets of party faith. According to my idea, true Democracy is both conservative and progressive. It is at once anxious to save, and anxious to improve. While it looks proudly back to what is acknowledged to be good in its past, it looks longingly forward to what is suggestive of good in its future. It does not suffer its regard for things that are old to prevent it from discovering merit in things that are new. It never forgets that the world moves, and with such motion conditions change. It sees that year after year new political issues are presented for settlement, and new governmental problems for solution. It knows that the claims of these for recognition cannot be silenced by the mere dictum of any man or set of men, but that such claims must be met with a liberal spirit of forbearance and toleration, and be fairly discussed and investigated. This, I say, in my judgment, is true Democracy—this is the Democracy which was taught by Jefferson and Jackson—and this, be it deliberately said, is the Democracy of the masses of the people of this country today; and to it the leaders of the party are called upon to subscribe, and in accord with it to act. In this way the unity of the party can be preserved.

Upon this unity depends, at the South, the permanence of white supremacy. Upon the permanence of white supremacy at the South depends, among other things, the success of the Alliance movement for reform. This unity, then, is dear to the Southern members of that organization, both as Democrats and Alliance men—in a word, as patriots. In the place of seeking to divide, they are seeking to strengthen and solidify the party, of which they, with their sympathizers, make up nearly the whole rank and file. If any division should come, it must and ought to be charged, not to them, but to the politicians, who are striving to control the party in the undemocratic way of subjecting the will of the majority to that of the minority, for the undemocratic purpose of building up the few at the expense of the many. But I do not seriously apprehend division. I believe that the Alliance will eventually secure the relief sought, by and through that great party which, as before said, is the party of progress and reform as well as conservatism.

It will be readily perceived from what I have said that I am no Third party man, and I will add, that I will be no more a Third party man, should Democratic conventions ignore the Ocala demands, than I am now. Indeed, I doubt the wisdom of an incorporation of these demands into Democratic platforms. The first thing to be considered now by the Democracy is success. Until that success is attained, relief in no respect can be expected for the masses of the people. In Democratic platforms, consequently, only those planks should be admitted, which are necessary to squarely and sharply make up its issues with its great antagonist, the Republican party. Additional planks would bring about complications, and excite dissensions in the party, which would weaken its chances of victory. For this reason, and it will be observed that the position is based upon expediency alone, while endorsing the objects sought to be accomplished by the Ocala demands, I do not, as before suggested, care to see them made parts of Democratic platforms. And besides, the thing is unnecessary, as the principle of these demands is in harmony with the very central idea of true Democracy—"the greatest good to the greatest number of the people," and is substantially embraced in its three cardinal doctrines—"equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or persuasion, religious or political;" "economy in the public expense that labor may be lightly burdened;" and encouragement to agriculture and its handmaids"—mark the word—handmaids, commerce and manufactures." The motto of the Alliance, it is true, is measures and not men; but it is well advised that the way to reach these measures is through broad-minded and patriotic statesmen, and not through planks in platforms, however well fashioned and prepared to meet its wishes, bestrode by demagogues or favorites of Wall street methods.

Permit me to remark, in conclusion, that if a Third Party is organized in this country, I do not believe that its ranks will be swelled to any great extent by accessions from the sturdy old farmers at the South. Such action on their part would be a total reversal of the record heretofore made by them. The farmers of the South are Democrats true and tried, unconquered and unconquerable. They have fought for the principles of that party fearlessly, persistently and vigorously, sustained always by an unwavering faith in their truth and ultimate triumph. They propose, in my judgment, to die thus fighting, and it will be found in the end that they will never by their action in life leave behind them in death a stain upon the Democratic blade which they have so gloriously wielded, but that when the end shall come, they will return it to its scabbard, as bright and unsullied as when they first drew it at the bidding of liberty and truth.

RUFUS SANDERS

Very truly your friend,
S. S. SCOTT.

TRIES HIS HAND AT A RIGHT NEW GAME.

And Says "A Whole Paddle in Mighty Few Words"—He Makes Some Close Points on Various and Sundry Subjects—Short Sermons, Political Tips and General Farm Notes.

I maintain all along that single shots hit the best, and short speeches are the best. The finest stump speech I ever heard was made by that old friend of mine when he was elected Justice of the Peace. He had whipped a hard fight and with a close race and when a committee of seventeen pulled him out and called for a speech he came back at the crowd as follows:

"Fellowcitizens: For six long and weary weeks I have been lickin your boots, and now by Gum you can lick mine."

It takes a powerful smart man to say a whole paddle in a few words, but I am willing to play my hand that way for once.

SHORT SERMONS.

If a man's religion ain't worth fightin for it ain't worth pickin up in the big road.

A man that plays the fiddle ain't quite as bad as the man that plays the devil.

Thomas Jefferson use to say that religion and politics wouldn't mix up together very well, and Thomas was always right.

A sheepskin ain't always big enough to hide the wolf's but it takes some men a long time to git the lesson.

The meanest men in this world go through cold sober, with a constant weather eye on the 11th Commandment: "Don't Git Caught"

If there is anything in religion to cry about, I simply haven't got any as yet.

When the political pot stops over and the campaign goes up to the fight in pitch it is a good time of year to talk religion to a man on the other side.

There are some men in this world so rotten mean till the devil would throw up his job if he could to keep from bein caught in their company.

My religion is short and sweet and simple. Put your trust in the good Lord, and keep your liver movin.

A man that can plow a frisky horse in a new ground full of stumps all day and not let any cuss words slip has got genuine religion and plenty of it.

A man may ride a poor horse, and borrow his neighbor's paper and let his wife tote the wood and water, and still have religion, but I have got some mighty serious doubts about it.

The best man in this world to let alone is one of these flightin Methodist preachers.

Whenever a preacher kicks out of the traces and runs to politics you can generally put him down as either a natural born fool or a powerful sorry preacher.

Sometimes I look back down the line at the tight places I have come through and the close calls I have had, and then there is nothin that fills the bill like a few stanzas of "Amazing Grace."

"A devil ain't losin no time nor givin himself any worriment about the man that plays cards and drinks whisky durin the week, and then goes around w-a-a-r-r-in the yoke and b-e-a-r-i-n the cross on Sunday. The spider and the fly are both in the parlor."

If religion made me as solemn and sorry lookin as some folks I know, I reckon I would have to take my chances with the great unwashed.

As long as you stick to the "Old Ship" you can count on three square meals a day three hundred and sixty-five days in the year.

I believe in salvation by grace, as a free gift for nothin, and not of works lest any man might blow and brag about it.

GENERAL FARM NOTES.

Many a man can write big about the farmers and the farm, when at the same time he wouldn't know a bull-tongue scooter from a buzzard-wing sweep, or a stack of hay from a hornet's nest.

You can't plant campaign literature and raise a good crop of corn. Don't try.

In order to make a good farm hand a man must rest some, and sleep a right smart, and eat a whole pascal.

Money makes the mare go, but it can't make a good grub go and stay when the machinery runs down and the bottom drops out of your stomach.

The way to be a farmer from Farmersville is to pull off your coat and roll up your sleeves and spit in your hands and pitch in.

About the most easiest and quickest way to git there is to hit the grit and pull out and go.

What you can't git for push and pluck wouldn't be worth havin if you cot it.

The old farm will always keep peace in your mind and plenty in the pantry if you only treat her kind and gentle and tinkle her bosom right frequent.

Blessed is the man that don't want much, and knows right where to go and git it.

Better is a happy home, and peace and quiet therewith, than a few years of hurry and worry and highflyin, and then the gable end of a misspent life.

Briars and berries grow together, and if you git the berries you will have to go through the briars.

Take a good average agricultural editor and drop him down on a well regulated farm, and he would be like a blind calf in high oats, or a bobtail dog at a log walkin. The man that knows the woods is the man to blaze the way.

RUFUS SANDERS.

LAMENTABLE.

This is the Condition of Our "City of the Dead."

When the stranger visits Jacksonville her patriotic citizens take pride in telling him of her marvelous mineral wealth, point out the salubrity of her climate, and refer with becoming modesty to the culture and genial hospitality of her people, but they never ask him to take a stroll or drive out to the cemetery. This one place they do not care to have him see.

And why not? Because this resting place of our departed loved ones is neglected—sadly neglected.

The graves of soldiers who died for us can hardly be found.

The valiant Pelham left our midst and in his final fatal charge fell fighting for our homes. No simple monument stands over his remains here to mark the spot where they lie and attest the love, veneration and gratitude of his fellow-citizens.

Not only our great cities boast of their beautiful and well kept cemeteries, but also our towns and villages, and it will be well for us to fall in line with the Memorial Associations of the land and set aside one day in the year in which to decorate the soldiers' graves, thereby keeping alive their memory.

In the meantime, pride in our town and a lingering love for our lost ones should make us give our sympathy and support to the good ladies who are making earnest, unselfish efforts to have our cemetery put in a more creditable condition.

Those who care to contribute anything towards a fund to be used in defraying necessary expenses can do so by leaving it at Mayor Stevenson's office.

All, young and old, from all parts of the town and vicinity, who are willing to give a day's labor are requested to meet at the cemetery on next Monday, the 22nd inst at 8:30 o'clock.

Ye Olde Folkes Concert.

On Monday evening last the chapel of the State Normal School was filled with spectators eager to witness the rendition of the excellent program prepared for "Ye Olde Folkes Concert."

The concert was given under the auspices of Mrs. Lattie Bowling for the benefit of the college.

The program, in itself, was unique and the selections were of such a nature as to delight not only "ye olde folkes" but also the lads and lassies as well.

The costumes of ye men and women singers were truly gentle reminders of the costumes of the happy ante-bellum days.

At 8 o'clock the curtains were drawn and for two solid hours laughter and mirth held full sway in the audience.

After the musical portion of the program had been disposed of the curtains were closed and the scene changed to that of a barn, with baskets and barrels filled with corn, boxes and all other requisites necessary to the successful performance of "Ye Olde Fashioned Husking Bee."

The scene presented was highly representative of an ideal (!) corn husking, and from the continuous applause it was very evident that the face was well received by the participants.

The characters in the play were well chosen, and the entire performance was a success from beginning to finish.

The concert given at College Hall by Mrs. Bowling on Monday night was a great success. At least $10 was cleared. This lady deserves a vote of thanks for her efforts in behalf of the college. In fact, since the foundation of the Normal School the ladies connected with it, have worked nobly, and unselfishly for its good. Miss Montgomery, Mrs. Woodward, Miss Fouché, Miss McCombs, Miss Anderson and Mrs. Bowling have all contributed no little to its improvement.

We lift our hat to the ladies of our college.

ARE YOU ONE OF US!

It seems almost like throwing the money away to pay tailors $40.00 an $50.00 for what you can get of us for $25 or $35. They rail and rant against ready made clothes—but it's the pricking of the consciousness of excellence. We've gone in to win the trade of a class of gentlemen who are particular—but who are ready to give merit its dues. Have a look at our line of fine SUITS and OVERCOATS. If you've looked the best tailor's stock over you have seen the same grade of goods—with a third more at least, "tacked on" to the cost. The cheap tailors and the rest of the ready made clothiers haven't a suggestion of them even. Our's are in all the genteel effects. Effects that you don't find outside of a dozen mills if you look the world over for them. We put these fine fabrics right into OUR OWN TAILOR SHOPS and when they come out there's nothing choicer to be had. We are willing to stake our reputation on the perfection of the fit, the elegance and thoroughness of the finish and make. Try them on; It won't cost anything but time; and we are sure you'll give us the endorsement we deserve. We never go "off half cocked." When we make a claim we plant it in rich soil of facts, and it don't take long for it to bring forth fruit. Our efforts are telling on our trade. It's growing amazingly.

MASQUERADE PARTY.

"The most enjoyable event of the season was the 'Masquerade Party' at the 'Iron Queen' Friday evening, given by the young ladies in honor of the young men of Jacksonville. Guests began to assemble at eight o'clock, and soon the hotel was transformed into a scene of merriment, where Gypsy and Indian maidens, demure little house maids and stately queens could be seen with Clowns, Dudes and Buffalo Bills.

With jest and laughter the time sped quickly away, and soon masks were removed and guests invited to the dining room where supper awaited them. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent, and all too soon the merry party disbanded.

Let me here, in behalf of the young ladies of Jacksonville, thank Mrs. J. H. Privett and Mrs. S. D. G. Brothers for their kindness in helping them so successfully.

The married couples invited to assist the young ladies in receiving were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Privett, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. G. Brothers, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Crook, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Gasser.

The costumes of those in mask were well studied and did credit to the talent of both young men and maidens.

"Starlight" was charmingly represented by Miss Addie Hammond. Miss Undine Lane was a veritable "Queen of Hearts." Miss Hannah Crook, as "Music" proved very attractive. Miss Fannie Forney looked very stately and beautiful as "All is not Gold that Glitters." Miss Bessie Woodward, representing Porter, Martin & Co., was pronounced the sweetest young lady present; candy figuring extensively in her costume. Miss Jessie Forney as a "Swiss Peasant Girl" was very coquettish looking. The costume of Miss Will Woodward, "Nothing but Leaves" was much admired. A pretty little "Gypsy" was Miss Nannie Nisbet, while Miss Louise Lane was a dainty "Valeptine." The costume of Miss Sallie Hoke as Winter, and Miss Georgia Hoke as the Indian maiden Minnehaha, were among the prettiest present. Miss Mame Crow and Miss Fatina Coker both brilliantly and beautifully represented "Night." Miss Emma Eason looked picturesquely pretty as a "Shepherdess." The costume pronounced the most ingenious was that worn by Mrs. Laddie Bowlin, called "Guess Who?"

Very petite and graceful looking Miss Lizzie Mattison as "Queen of Spades." Misses Willie Privett, of Oxford, looked quite pretty and cute in the role of "Little House-maid." The most cunning costume was that of Miss Hughie Walker, as "Mama's Pet." Jek's millinery establishment was handsomely displayed in the costume of Miss Lizzie Arnold. Misses Ida Arnold and Sallie Marion were two tastefully arrayed "Flower Girls." "Diana, goddess of the chase was there, with her quiver of arrows, and looked quite pretty in the person of Miss Hattie Weems. The "JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN" found a fair representative in the person of Miss Fannie Crow. She received many compliments. Miss Reta Sagee as "Pocahontas," and Miss Sofia Sagee as "Snowflake" were highly complimented. The neat and industrious "Housewife" was well represented by Miss Lizzie Brennan, Mr. Macon Stevenson was a perfect representation of a "Montgomery Brewery." Mr. Joseph Arnold was a very graceful and handsome "Indian Chief." Quite an attractive and polite "Jew" was Mr. J. F. Crook, Messrs. Mac Lane and Chas. Arnold were two very popular and entertaining "Dromedaries" they carried out their part to perfection. The "Infallible George Washington" was there in the person of Mr. Will Hammond. He was as genial as the original "George" himself.

Mr. William Driskoll as "Beau Brummel" and Mr. Walter Dean as a "Dude of the 19th Century," were both quite charming. Mr. Earnest Whisenant proved to be a very pleasant "Buffalo Bill." Mr. W. T. Skelton looked very handsome in his role of a "Citizen of the time of Henry I." Mr. Forney Williams was quite attractive as a "Sailor Boy."

The costumes of Mr. Jas. Crow, as King Cotton, and Mr. George Rowan as a "Priced" were among the best. Mr. W. H. McKee was well distinguished in the costume of a "Leper."

Guests not in mask were Mr. and Mrs. Micou, Miss Sadie Williams, Col Ellis, Miss Ella Abernathy, Messrs Montgomery, Ide, Ury, Stewart, Henderson, Skelton, Lane Dean and Ryan.

We regret that the names of those who failed to register, have not been obtained.

The Republican.

L. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1902.

President L. L. Polk was foremost among the third party men at St. Louis.

Livingston was generally snubbed in the St. Louis Convention. He was too much of a Democrat to suit them.

The Democratic Executive Committee of this Judicial Circuit will meet in Talladega, Monday, Feb. 20th 1902.

The New York State Convention appointed a solid delegation to the National Democratic Convention in the interest of David B. Hill for President.

Macne, Polk and Terrell have at last shown their hands. How long will Southern Democratic farmers continue to follow their lead?

Mr. Kolb has been charging in Tuscaloosa county that he was beaten in Marengo by negro votes. A dispatch to Gov. Jones from Marengo states that not a single negro vote was cast in any beat which went for Jones.

Gov. Jones challenged Capt. Kolb to a joint debate in Tuscaloosa county, but Kolb declined. The Governor had learned that Kolb had said that he (Jones) was afraid to meet him (Kolb) on the stump, and hence the challenge.

Dallas county having three candidates of her own for Congress, Messrs Cecil Browne, of Talladega, and L. W. Grant, of Calhoun, declined to contest for a delegation in that county. So, Tuesday next the vote in that county for Congress will be only for Robbins, Burns and Irwin delegates.

A correspondent pays a merited tribute in this issue to the good people of who inhabit the two pretty Nances Creek and Rabbit Town valleys in this county. No better or more self-sustaining farmers can be found in the State, and we may add, no better Democrats live in this Republic.

Owing to the inclement weather, the work on the cemetery has been twice postponed. The ladies concerned in this commendable effort to beautify our cemetery ask us to say that the first clear and dry Monday will be the day on which all our people, young and old, should meet at that hallowed spot. It may be the next Monday or the Monday after that.

Tuscaloosa county holds her primary election today (Saturday). Both Gov. Jones and Capt. Kolb have been speaking in that county this week. The county went solid for Kolb in the last State Convention. The indications are that it will go solid for Jones this time.

Dallas county holds her primary election next Tuesday. In that county there will be a prostrate for Governor, and Jones will carry a majority of the delegates.

National Lecturer Willets of the National Farmers' Alliance offered a resolution in the St. Louis Feb. 22nd Convention demanding that Congress pass the sub-treasury bill, but it was defeated by a large majority. Subsequently a resolution was offered demanding the passage of the free silver coinage bill, and to this was offered an amendment including the sub-treasury bill, but it was again defeated. The sub-treasury does not appear to be as popular as it was a year ago.

When Mr. Moses of Georgia, an Alliance Congressman, announced in the St. Louis Convention that while he was an Allianceman he was still a Democrat, he was hooted and jeered and insulted, and was barely permitted to proceed with his speech. Livingston was charged by a delegate with seeking to turn the Alliancemen of Georgia over to the Democratic party and this raised such a howl that Livingston had to get up and deny it. Oh how these Western agitators love Southern Democrats!

During the Conference at St. Louis there was another burying of the "bloody shirt" scene. Polk spoke for the Gray and Vandiver, of North Dakota, for the Blue. At every mention of a third party the wildest enthusiasm prevailed, while the United States flag was waved frantically. Powell of Indiana sang "united we stand." Amid the excitement a negro came upon the stage and shook hands with the whites. Some one wrapped the flag around the negro, a Northerner and a Southerner, and the scene ended.

The city of Talladega has sold twenty thousand of its bonds in New York at par. This speaks well for the credit of the city and the confidence of the public in its growth. Talladega is one of the towns that has not had what has become to be known as a "boom," but its growth has been steady and real estate values have been good, yet reasonable. It has altogether been better for the town that it has had no wild speculation in real estate which comes with a boom. The city is greatly favored in beauty of location, culture of its people and rich surroundings in mineral and agricultural wealth, and will steadily forge its way to the front among the foremost towns of the State.

The St. Louis Conference remanded the question of Women Suffrage to the States and set down upon the prohibition plank.

Ignatius Donnelly, the greatest political crank of the century, wrote the preamble to the St. Louis platform agreed upon by the Conference of the 22nd of February. He is supposed to sit parties and been the "Whore."

There was no split in the Marengo Convention. The sixteen delegates were given to Jones and harmony prevailed. After the convention, the Jones men and Kolb men had a regular feast and patriotic speeches were made. No ought Democrats to act every where.

Mr. Kolb has said in a speech at Tuscaloosa that Judge Richardson had said that "he too" was swindled out of the nomination at the last State Convention. Judge Richardson writes a letter to say that he never said any such thing.

Giving Mr. Kolb Payette counts the delegates to the State Convention "stand" as follows: Jones 46, Kolb 25. So far Kolb has gained 16 delegates in counties which before went for Jones, and Jones has gained 26 delegates in counties which before went for Kolb.

Now is a good time for Alliancemen in Calhoun to speak out. Do you go with the new crowd, or do you abide with your own party? We know what the answer will be. "We stay with those with whom we have passed through great tribulation." No more princely gifts for northern soldiers, while many of our Confederate heroes are on charity.

Ignatius Donnelly, one of the ring leaders in the St. Louis Conference the 22nd inst., called for the purpose of considering the question of independent political action by the Ocala Convention, said that the conference proposed to change Geography by wiping out Mason and Dixons line and to change politics by wiping out the color line. The Conference subsequently effectually wiped out the color line by electing a Virginia negro to be assistant Secretary. Parson Adams of this State objected and was met with cries of "shame," "sit down" and so forth.

Congressman Livingston recently introduced a resolution in the House declaring that Congress sympathized with the masses of the people and would enact laws to relieve them. At the St. Louis Conference of the 22nd, this resolution was made all sorts of fun of. President Polk in his address declared that neither of the old parties would help the people and nothing could be expected of this Congress. Polk seems to know more about what Congress will do than Congress does itself. Polk is a third party man. Livingston is not. Hence Livingston has been ridiculed and sat down upon in the Conference.

Ben. Guinn, the versatile young editor of the Oxford Night Hawk, is a son of Mr. J. M. K. Guinn who edits the Oxford Voice. Ben is for Jones, and his father is for Kolb. Ben belongs to the Jones club in Oxford, which outnumbers the Kolb club in that vicinity about ten to one. The old gentleman does not quarrel with his boy on this account, but says he is proud of him. He says he is doing God's service in supporting Kolb, but in the same breath says that the children of this world are wiser in their day than the children of light; which, while it is a sly dig at Ben, is a complete give away of Kolb's chances.

Harmony has been restored in the Democratic party of Lee county. The County Executive Committee have had a meeting and called in the appointment for a convention based on five delegates for each beat, irrespective of the number of Democrats they contained, and made a call for a primary election for delegates to the State Convention. The candidate for Governor who gets the most votes will get the delegates. The call for a convention based on five delegates to each beat gave dissatisfaction. Under that rule a beat which cast only 60 Democratic votes had as large a representation as Opelika which cast 500 Democratic votes. Public meetings were held and some plain talking was done in Lee; and the result is the committee has acceded to the popular wish and there is once more harmony in old Lee.

Months ago the editor of this paper, in a speech at Piedmont, predicted that the Conference of Feb. 22nd, would declare for independent action and that Alliancemen of Calhoun would be called on to decide whether or not they would leave the Democratic party. Mr. Longshore, that great lover of the people, treated this declaration lightly, but the people can now see who was right. Of course the Democrats in the Alliance in this county will not go into any third party; but the fact will remain that the sub-treasury net was spread to catch recruits for a third party, and for this reason was urged vehemently upon the people by men who, knowing they could never be much in the Democratic party, hoped to profit by the formation of a new one. When these men see the honest farmers of the country cannot be taken out of the Democratic party, they will quietly subside and be heard of no more for a long time. Because certain parts of the Ocala platform were designed and calculated to lead good men out of the Democratic party, this paper opposed them—not because it was opposed to the farmers, but because it was regarded of them.

Among the planks of the platform adopted by the St. Louis Conference is one to "pay" the Federal soldiers the difference between gold and greenbacks, during the war when they received their pay in greenbacks. This would take hundreds of millions of dollars and is a scheme to rob the South for the benefit of the North. The South already pays fifty millions a year in the shape of pensions to Federal soldiers, for which she gets nothing back. How will Southern Alliancemen relish the idea of being further taxed to further enrich that already rich section of the Union?

The committee of the Knights of Labor formulated what they would want in the platform of the new party. It consisted almost wholly of Henry George's single tax idea—that is that land should bear all the taxes. These men believe that land should be as free for all as air or water, and hence would tax out or confiscate by taxation ownership in land as now enjoyed by the farmers. The farmers on the contrary not only claim the right to own land, but in the land bill, predicate on that right the special privilege of borrowing money from the Government at cheaper rate than anybody else can get it. Here is a difference. The Knights of Labor say to the farmers "If this new party movement prevails, we propose to lay no tax upon the banker, the merchant, the distiller, the tobacco manufacturer, the owner of houses or the railroads or the telegraph lines, but all the taxes to support the town, county, State, Federal Governments shall come out of your land. We will tax your land so high that you will be glad to give away all but the few acres you can cultivate with your own hands." The Ocala platform farmers say, "If this new party movement prevails, or if we can impose our platform on the Democratic party and thus make a new party out of that, we shall claim the special privilege of not only owning all the land we can get, but the right to borrow money on it from the Government at a cheaper rate than the commercial world has fixed the price of money at. We will go further and claim the right to borrow more money on the product of that land, so as to be able to corner the crops and make you workmen, who do not cultivate the land, pay more than the natural price for what you eat." How can these two elements continue long in harmonious political partnership.

SEVENTH CIRCUIT.

Chairman's Call for a Meeting of the Executive Committee.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Seventh Judicial Circuit, composed of the counties of Clay, Calhoun, Cleburne, Shelby, St. Clair and Talladega, are requested to meet in the city of Talladega on Monday, February 25, 1902, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting the time and place for holding the convention for said circuit and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the committee.

T. S. PLOWMAN, Chairman.

The Third Party.

Atlanta Journal.

At the recent Third party rally at Douglasville I had a lengthy conversation with Colonel C. C. Post, who appears to be the prime agitator in the movement. A bit of history about the third party will tend to show what manner of a political leader he is.

I give it as he himself told me: "I was first a republican," he explained, "and voted with that party for one or two years, if I remember aright. I cast my first vote for a republican, and I think I voted with the republicans in local elections after that once or twice. I then became an independent ticket voter ever since. I was for a long time a greenbacker. I am now interesting myself in breaking off the allegiance which the producing class of Americans bear to the old parties."

The platform he presents includes the sub-treasury bill, together with the other demands of the Ocala convention of Alliancemen.

Mr. Post is a dissembler, but an open, candid, earnest one, and admits it with a frankness that almost gives his position a semblance of fairness, and in a measure excuses it.

Depressed Prices.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The Senate Committee on Agriculture today considered the resolution of Senator George relative to the appointment of a committee to inquire into the cause of the low price of cotton and the depressed condition of agriculture in the cotton raising States and agreed to report back to the Senate an amendment in the nature of a substitute authorizing the committee to make a general investigation for the purpose of ascertaining the present condition of agriculture in the United States, the present prices of agricultural products, and if the prices are depressed, the causes of such depression and remedies therefor.

The line marked out by the Committee is to appoint a sub-committee to investigate the condition of agriculture in the grain and meat producing States and Territories, the aim being to cover the whole subject of agriculture with a view of determining what legislation, if any, is necessary for the relief of the farmers of the country. The resolution will be reported to the Senate Monday.

DECLARES FOR A THIRD PARTY.

St. Louis, Feb. 23.—The last day of session of the conference of "producers' organizations" leaves no doubt that the body will declare for independent political action.

Every reference to the subject was greeted by the wildest enthusiasm, and the speakers referred in a contemptuous tone to those who hoped to get relief from the Democratic party.

Polk is square out for independent action, and says there are not enough people in the United States to prevent this body from declaring itself. Powderly, who has been wary and cautious heretofore, now comes out for the independent action, and says the Knights of Labor will go with the farmers to the end of the furrow.

General Weaver and Ignatius Donnelly were among the first to go into the people's party, and this is a day of triumph for them. Jerry Simpson is happy, too, and the western delegates are boiling with enthusiasm.

The two most conspicuous figures in the day's proceedings, were President Polk of the alliance and Ignatius Donnelly; and their speeches before the body were highly sensational, as well as decidedly pointed.

The report of the credentials committee showed that there were 246 delegates from the Farmers' Alliance, 53 from the Farmers' Alliance Mutual Benefit association, 82 from the Knights of Labor, 97 from the National Farmers' Alliance, 25 from the Citizens' Alliance, 97 from the National Colored Alliance, 27 from the National Citizens' Alliance, 75 from the Patrons of Industry, and 7 from the Patrons of Husbandry.

On motion of Ignatius Donnelly, a recess of 20 minutes was taken to select a committee on platform, to consist of one from each state and three from each organization represented. A temperance plank will be in the platform, as Miss Frances E. Willard, Lady Somerset, Miss Miss Hoffman and Mrs. F. H. Ingalls, of the W. C. T. U., were admitted as delegates. Miss Frances E. Willard and Ben Terrell were elected vice-presidents of the conference. Miss Willard was brought forward and spoke for woman suffrage, saying she knew no sect in religion, no section in politics, and no sex in citizenship.

Warwick, of Virginia, a very black man, was nominated as assistant secretary of the conference, John W. Hayes having been elected secretary. Mr. Gilmore, of the Georgia Farmers' Alliance, moved to make the brother's election unanimous. We can stand him down in Georgia.

"I want to say that Alabama won't consent to its being made unanimous," said S. M. Adams, at which cries of "sit down," "shame," and hisses of derision filled the hall.

The motion was put and Warwick was elected, the Alabamian's loud "no" being the only one heard in the meeting.

In the midst of great confusion on account of many strangers being on the floor, and on account of Chairman Cannon being badly rattled, Colonel L. L. Polk was nominated for permanent chairman.

The credentials committee divided the delegation from Georgia and gave seats to Post, Ellington and Branch, third party men. At this there was a protest from Moses, Livingston and others named as delegates by the Georgia Alliance Executive Committee. This debate precipitated a strong scene Post had declared that at the time of the August convention nine-tenths of the Alliancemen of Georgia were in favor of independent action, and Colonel Livingston and Mr. Moses had admitted as much, but urged the postponement of a resolution to that effect until the people should act. He then charged that the purpose of these gentlemen was to deliver the alliance, bound hand and foot, into the hands of the democratic party.

At this, there was a great uproar, and the great assembly lashed itself into fury like the sea in a storm. Mr. J. Branch, at the top of his shrill voice, made the charge that Livingston and Moses were here to throttle the voice of the masses of Georgia.

It was a trying time for Moses when he rose to reply. He was greeted with ominous sounds of displeasure, and might not have been heard but for General Weaver's manly appeal for fair play.

"These other brethren have had their inning. Now give Brother Moses a chance," he said.

Mr. Moses mounted a chair and said in a voice that rang out with defiance:

"Mr. Chairman—If we are to understand that the two gentlemen who are seated to fill vacancies come to vote in the convention under the same instructions as the gentlemen who were appointed by the state alliance of Georgia, then we have nothing more to say. If in good faith they come here to fill vacancies, I, for one, have nothing to say. (Confusion.) I will not proceed if free speech is not in vogue. (Go on.)" At this there were cries of "Sit down, sit down!" and the confusion became so great that the speaker had to suspend.

A negro delegate gained the floor under pretense of making a point of order, and protested against the disturbance. The confusion continued, and Mr. Moses exclaimed in a voice that could be heard above the din: "If you don't want to hear me, get off my feet!"

This caught the crowd and they listened to him as he continued his superb defiance in these words:

"You know that Georgia is an alliance state. She has more alliance members in the national legislature than any other state. (Laughter.) You come here to find that the sovereign state of Georgia has not enough delegates to represent her in your convention."

"I am a Democrat. I am not going to deceive you western men. Here is the third party in Georgia. God knows I am not the first man to bring up the political question."

"Is it a crime to be a democrat? Then hang me, if you want to, but I am an Allianceman, too."

At this brave utterance the convention gasped its teeth and drowned the speaker's voice with groans and jeers.

St. Louis, Feb. 24.—The Conference adopted a platform declaring that neither of the old parties intended to accomplish reform and that the necessity for a new party existed. Subsequently the Convention resolved itself into a mass meeting and on motion of C. W. Macne appointed a committee to confer with the People's Party National Committee for the purpose of fixing upon a time and place for a National Convention to nominate a Presidential ticket.

C. W. Macne, L. L. Polk, J. B. Willets, Ben Terrell and others were appointed on this Committee. The Committee subsequently met and appointed the Fourth day of July as the date for the National Convention, the place to be hereafter chosen by a committee of ten.

The Knights of Labor agreed not to insist on putting into the platform their single tax theory, as the farmers would not stand it.

The platform denounces both the old parties; declares for issue of money direct to the people by the government on the Ocala plan to extent of fifty dollars per capita; for free coinage of silver; for a graduated income tax; for tariff reduction; for postal savings banks; for government reclamation of lands held by aliens and by railroads in excess of actual use; for absolute government ownership of all railroad, telegraph and telephone lines; and lastly the following "We demand that the Government issue legal tender notes and pay the Union soldier the difference between the price of the depreciated money in which he was paid and gold."

This would be near a billion dollars. Of this Southern farmers would have to pay over three hundred million dollars—more than one entire cotton crop—and get nothing back for it, while their own Confederate veterans are uncared for.

Increasing Success.

The following article from the Montgomery Daily Advertiser of January 21st, is of interest to every business man, and in fact to everybody, who has printing done in the state:

"One of the youngest, and at the same time, perhaps, one of the most prosperous firms, in Montgomery is the Alabama Printing Company, now occupying the main offices of the second floor and the entire third floor of the Winter building, on the corner of Court Square and Dexter avenue. This business was established about three years ago by Rev. C. W. Hare and Mr. J. C. Pope, of Selma, Ala. The business grew rapidly and these young business men found themselves being rewarded not only in the good opinions of others, but in so large a patronage that their machinery and quarters were insufficient to meet the demands for printing. They bought a new engine, new presses, more type, etc., and moved to more commodious quarters. Since moving there they have been compelled to add to their already large plant some handsome machinery and equipments for their work. The work was soon too heavy for only two men to manage in all of its departments and they found a congenial partner in Professor J. M. Dewberry, who was for three years principal of the Capitol Hill school in this city. Professor Dewberry joined the firm the first day of last April, and together with his experienced and energetic partners has continued to push the business on to greater success. Last fall marked a new era in their history. Having equipped a complete book manufacturing department under the supervision of Mr. J. J. Yokum, of Selma, they appealed to business men for patronage in that line. It is needless to say that they got it. Montgomery business men and others now find that they can have just as fine printing and book making done in Montgomery as can be done in the United States. County officials no longer have to send their work away from Alabama to have it done right. This business gives employment to more than twenty persons, all of whom receive good salaries and receive them at the end of every week. Such an enterprise helps to build a city, and deserves the hearty and enthusiastic support that it receives not only from Montgomery, but from every section of Alabama. The books of the Southern Express Company show that this firm ships largely to every part of this state. This success is due to close attention to business and wisdom in its management. The prospects are that they will continue to prosper and grow."

Stirring Resolutions.

Anniston Hot Blast.

At the first meeting of the Jones Club in Anniston, the following strong resolutions were presented by the committee and unanimously adopted:

1. Resolved, That recognizing the force and power of organized effort in accomplishing results and being deeply interested in the welfare of the Democratic party in Alabama, we form the club, that thereby we may then better advance the interests of true Democracy, promulgate its principles, and urge their sufficiency to meet the ever varying needs of the citizens and to accomplish the end of good government. That the preservation of the party, solid and undivided, and the promotion of its welfare, is infinitely above the gratification of the aspirations of any one man. That the party can only be preserved and its welfare promoted by its selection as candidates for office men thoroughly in accord with its principles and who are possessed of the ability and courage to faithfully adhere to them.

2. Resolved, That firm adherence to Democratic principles, integrity of character and honesty in the administration of public trust should all be indispensable requirements to candidacy for Democratic office, and that all of these requirements we find in Thomas G. Jones.

3. Resolved, That we hereby endorse the administration of Thomas G. Jones, Governor of Alabama, as being able, conservative and wise; that in him we recognize a fearless and intrepid champion of Democracy, who has proven himself worthy to be honored by his party, and intrusted with its leadership, and into whose keeping we can safely consign the ark of the Democratic covenant.

That we particularly admire the ability and courage with which he is now conducting the contest for his re-nomination, and the judgment and propriety he is displaying throughout this heated and personal campaign, in remaining ever mindful of the dignity of the office he represents. That in the campaign he is making we recognize an earnest and determined effort on the part of Thos. G. Jones for the preservation of the party, the advancement of its interests and the achievement of triumphs. That he has displayed a faithfulness and devotion to its good, which is far above all consideration for his personal preference.

4th. Resolved, That it is a precedent of the Democratic party founded upon reason and expediency to accord to the faithful and honorable incumbent of the office of Governor a second term; a precedent which is dangerous and unwise to depart from, and peculiarly so when the welfare of the party, the good of the State and the ability of the man all imperatively demand that it should be adhered to.

5th. Resolved, That it is the purpose of this club throughout the present campaign to use its best and most strenuous efforts for the re-nomination of Governor Thos. G. Jones and to give to him its heartiest support.

6. Resolved, That we cordially invite all true Democrats throughout Calhoun County to become members of this club and to co-operate with us in the work we have undertaken.

The following card appears in the Sheffield Enterprise with the request that it be generally copied, as its publication may succeed in bringing father and daughter together: I am trying to find my father. I am told that his name is James F. Bailey. I have no recollection of him, nor do I remember that I ever looked upon the face of a relative. My mother died fifteen years ago in Boone county. I was adopted by a neighbor named Morgan. When I was eight years old we moved to Nebraska, and at this time father lost track of me. I understand he endeavored to find me, but was basely led by an interested party to believe that I had died. I have only recently learned that the Morgans are not my parents. They are nothing to me. I am nothing to them. The thought makes me homesick, sad and lonely. I believe that my father is living somewhere in this wide world, and if he is I mean to find him. You can assist me if you will, but I can offer no reward at present save my gratitude and blessings. If you are unable to give me any information regarding father, please help me to publish this notice and oblige, sincerely yours, REETA BAILEY.

Ozark Star.—The Talladega county Alliance has demanded of Capt. Kolb that he give a satisfactory explanation of the Guice cotton transaction over his own signature. They further demand of him, that if the Guice matter be false as he says it is, that he immediately institute legal proceedings against Guice for damage to character. Until he does the things above enumerated the Talladega Alliancemen respectfully withhold their support from him.

AN AGREEMENT REACHED.

And the McEnery and Foster Faction Will Submit to a Primary.

NEW ORLEANS, February 21.—The compromise proposition submitted to the two democratic central committees by the joint conference committee has been ratified by both sides.

The McEnery committee ratified the agreement Saturday night. The Fosterites were in session all day yesterday, and there was considerable opposition to the measures offered, as it was considered detrimental to the success of the factions. Senators White and Gibson addressed the body during the day, and are supposed to have urged harmony. The committee, by unanimous vote last night decided to accept the agreement, and the McEneryites are jubilant in consequence. The principal point of agreement is the submission of the McEnery and Foster tickets to the primaries, the winning ticket to be the regular democratic ticket at the general election, the other to be withdrawn. The conference committees are in session arranging details of primaries and other matters in connection with the agreement.

Mrs. Leslie's Mr. Wilde.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—There is considerable gossip afloat about Mrs. Frank Leslie, who has retaken the name, because, as she asserts, her latest husband, Wm. Wilde, has taken no steps to make a name for himself in this country in any way adequate to that which she has established by her exertions, although she has given him every facility which a literary man could desire. The Press Club delegates to the International League of clubs, which met recently in San Francisco, told a great many stories of the eccentricities of Mr. Wilde and his wife, including such incidents as their going to receptions in separate carriages at different hours, and each going home without the other's company. Mr. Wilde has an apartment at the Lotus Club, but drives out with Mrs. Leslie every afternoon and goes with her to receptions, theaters and other evening entertainments, and will insist on going to bed at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning and breakfasting at 12 o'clock, and he can do so at the Lotus Club without disturbing Mr. Leslie's usual routine.

NANCES CREEK VALLEY.
A Prosperous and Happy People.
CROCOLOCO, ALA., Feb. 22.

Mr. C. Coffield and myself organized a local board of The Farmers and Mechanics Saving and Loan Association in Cotaquilla and Nances Creek Valleys. The best farmers in the valley took stock with us. The following are the officers of the Local Board:

J. T. Chambers, President; J. H. King, Vice-President; E. P. Penny, Secretary; Samuel Morgan Treasurer. Directors: T. H. Arnett, Dave Jennings, P. C. Patterson, John Hollingsworth, R. H. Dowdle, R. A. Love and J. T. Chambers. The board is composed of the best farmers in the county. We had the pleasure of spending the night with Mr. Chambers and Penny, who entertained us as only the best farmers can. Also of taking dinner with Messrs. Love and Dave Jennings, who deserve great credit for they both started this life, when first married, without much and now they have good homes and paid for. We find the farmers of these beautiful valleys all doing well, have plenty of corn and wheat, and they live at home. Their homes are neat and their farms well worked and they are making money and doing well, and are not bothering themselves about politics (only Commissioners) and there is only 3 or 4 candidates in these valleys and we regret we can not vote for all of them for they all would make good commissioners. If every valley in the county would take pattern after this valley and raise their own supplies we would soon have a prosperous and happy people. S. N. MILLIGAN.

GOING HOME TO REST.

In Memory of Sammie.

Who died at the residence of his parents, Washington and Frances Dickie on the 16th day of January 1892, aged 19 years 10 months and 20 days. Sammie selected the song, "Hark from the tomb," to be sung over him and selected his own minister to attend his funeral services, who was Mr. Harden. He was an obedient child, affectionate brother and kind uncle; and professed faith in Christ, lived in peace and died in peace on the 28th night of December. He called us all to his bedside to give us his sweet words: "I am ready to meet God; I am going home to rest;" and as would reach his little white hands to his relatives, friends and young men associates and take them by their hands and say, "I am going home to rest I want you to meet me in heaven will you meet me there?" When the words came from their lips—"Sam I will try." He would reply: "I don't want that; I want yes or no, so I will know. You may not all keep the promise that you have made me, but I will know by and by who kept them." Yes, by and by, dear Sammie will know us as we cross over the river of death one by one and join the hands with him on the banks of sweet deliverance, where there will be no more parting and no more farewell tears are shed. As our dear mother laid her head upon his and said "how many prayers have I uttered for my dear child;" and then faintly as she was carried away from his bed, he turned his sweet face and watched after her and said: "Ma, don't do that way, give me up easy, for I am going home to rest." He bore his suffering and never murmured, and why was it? because his Savior was with him. He said God knew best and death is no sting when Jesus was there. When his body would be racked with pain, his sweet voice would utter, "I can't stay here much longer; but I have got better home than this—farewell to this world; when I leave here, I am going to a world where trouble never comes." He would whisper, "lay me down, I can't rest in this world, but I can in the other one." His last words were to his two brothers on earth. He said, "lay me down, I can rest better." A few minutes after they laid him down he joined hands with that angel brother of one that crossed the chilly waters of death 13 years before him. Our dear brother is gone. He has departed this life, but he is not gone forever. Only one thought can soothe our grief.

Since we from him must sadly sever, One only hope can yield relief, Our parting may not be forever.

Oh, brother, dear brother, so pure, so sweet, so fair, the crown of sovereign beauty henceforth we bid thee wear; not other lovely rival of all thy regal race shall win our hearts devotion and claim thy peerless place; for he of whom thou only couldst worthily rival be in gentle grace and sweetness, he whom the grave has taken to its unruled rest, he praised thee and preferred thee and ever loved thee best. When death had taken all that it could of him and heaven his soul to be an angel there from off thy stem, fair flower, we plucked a tiny spray and placed it on his bosom upon his burial day; and thus two lilies broken by death's unsparring hand they journey graveyard into the silent land, one with the dust to mingle in darkness and decay, one to live on and blossom in heaven's eternal day. The love he bore thee living by death thus glorified, unchanged forever, shall in our hearts abide; therefore the crown of beauty henceforth we bid thee wear, dear brother, so pure, so sweet, so fair. He has passed this vale of tears, his suffering and trials are over, he will spend the remaining years with loved ones, to part no more. 'Twas the 16th when the merciful and just God blighted our joys and dimmed our eyes, on the 18th we laid him beneath the sod to sleep. It was a sad and mournful day God claimed him for his own and said he could no longer stay; but we may weep and mourn. In a bier drawn by angels dear Sammie was borne away to that celestial city where strangers are unknown and sweet harps play.

Oh sad and stricken is the mother and father sorrowing, but grieve not brothers and sisters for one who is so happy and blest; our departed loved and loved one, remember was willing to die. He has not left us forever but gone to his home in the sky. In our dreams may we look to that heavenly land, a mansion prepared for us as it was for him, in that home above, and we will see the fair form of our darling brother with beautiful hands that are beckoning us come. Oh why has he taken so early in life? It has saddened our home and our hearts seem siven; just in the prime of manhood's night; but he budded on earth to blossom in heaven.

But, alas, ere long we all have got to cross that chilly river of death prepared or unprepared, eyelids closed in death. And as his footsteps lingered on the verge of death's cold stream, marble hands across his breast where the lonely boughs wave in silence, we have laid him down to rest. When he crossed the chilly waters he felt the cold stream that rolled the heavens and earth between, though he has only gone on before, may we rest on hopes to meet him on the golden shore. When he crossed the chilly river of death he bowed and kissed the rod, though he is gone to rest forever in the city of his God.

Written by his two sad-hearted sisters who mourn his absence.

ARE YOU ONE OF US!

It seems almost like throwing the money away to pay tailors $40.00 an $50.00 for what you can get of us for $25 or $35. They rail and rant against ready made clothes—but it's the pricking of the consciousness of excellence. We've gone in to win the trade of a class of gentlemen who are particular—but who are ready to give merit its dues. Have a look at our line of fine SUITS and OVERCOATS. If you've looked the best tailor's stock over you have seen the same grade of goods—with a third more at least, "lacked out" to the cost. The cheap tailors and the rest of the ready made clothiers haven't a suggestion of them even. Our's are in all the genteel effects. Effects that you don't find outside of a dozen mills if you look the world over for them. We put these fine fabrics right into OUR OWN TAILOR SHOPS and when they come out there's nothing choicer to be had. We are willing to stake our reputation on the perfection of the fit, the elegance and thoroughness of the finish and make. Try them on; It won't cost anything but time; and we are sure you'll give us the endorsement we deserve. We never go "off half cocked." When we make a claim we
